

Frequently Asked Questions:

Why did Mighty Bowl close from late March till early June?

We had to close for nearly three months due to Covid-19. We did not want to put staff or customers at risk of the virus during the unprecedented time. Now that we have more of an understanding of the situation, as we have just entered into Phase 2, we feel more comfortable and confident being open and operating.

Why have Mighty Bowl hours and days of operation been shortened?

Seeing as these are uncertain times, we are carefully and slowly hiring back staff. We are doing this to ensure we keep the public and ourselves safe.

Why is the menu so limited?

With limited staff, the uncertainty of the future of Covid-19, in addition to food chain supplies being unreliable as far as availability & pricing, we decided it would be best to start out again with a limited menu.

When will the full menu return?

It's uncertain, if and when the full menu that we had prior to Covid-19, will be returning. There are so many variables through these unprecedented times, that we are taking that decision week by week. As soon as we have reached that decision, we will notify everyone via social media and on our website.

Can I order chicken or soy curls in my mighty bowl?

We do not have chicken or soy curls prepared or in house at all during this time, due to the uncertainty of food chain supplies reliability of product.. So, these protein adds are currently unavailable. However, there is protein present in black beans, brown rice and if you choose to add spinach to your bowl as well.

Can I order cashew cream on my bowl?

We currently do not have cashew cream prepared or in house. However, if we get enough requests to bring back cashew cream, we will most likely bring it back!
